

Violinist Lewis To Give Faculty Recital At 4 Tomorrow In Fine Arts Center

By Elaine Melchert

Miss Myrna Lewis, violinist and member of the Wartburg Music Department, will present a faculty recital tomorrow at 4 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center.

Miss Lewis attended the Wisconsin School of Music at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. She received the bachelor and master of music degrees from the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago.

WHILE IN CHICAGO, she was the winner of many performance contests and awards. Miss Lewis was a member of the Conservatory violin faculty and often appeared as an orchestral soloist or in ensemble groups.

Performances in such places as Orchestra Hall, Goodman Theater, Fullerton Hall and on WGN radio programs highlight her career as both a violinist and a pianist.

This fall Miss Lewis joined the music faculty here, where she is serving as instructor of violin, piano and theory.

FOR HER PROGRAM Sunday afternoon, she will present Handel's "Sonata in D Major" and Brahms' "Sonata in A Major." Other selections include "Poeme" by Chausson, "La plus que lente" by Debussy, "Perpetuum mobile" by F. Ries and "El Amor Brujo" by De Falla-Kochanski.

Miss Jean Abramson, also of the Music Department, will accompany Miss Lewis. Wartburg students are invited to the recital.

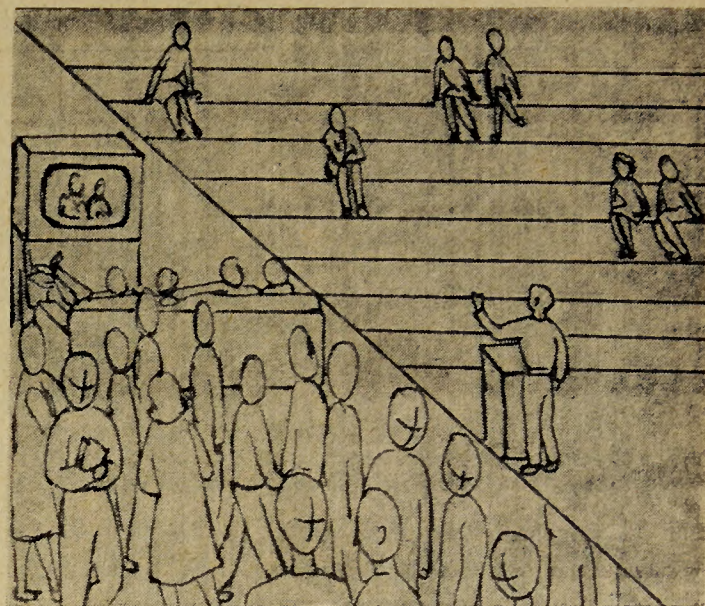

Dell's Installation Set For Tomorrow

The Rev. Robert Dell will be officially installed as an assistant professor of Christianity at Wartburg during the campus worship service Sunday.

Wartburg President C. H. Becker will preach the sermon, "The Leaven in the Lump." Dr. William F. Schmidt, chairman of the Board of Higher Education, ALC, will serve as liturgist.

The Rev. Herman Diers, pastor of the student congregation, will preach at St. Paul's tomorrow. His sermon topic is "What's the Use of Waiting?"

Pastor Dell had been a minister in the United Lutheran Church of America before coming to Wartburg.

IN TUESDAY'S MEETING

46 Assess $2 Fee On Student Body

While some nine hundred Wartburg students took their usual monthly cut from the Student Body meeting Tuesday, the other one-twentieth of the school's voters smacked the entire group with a two dollar Student Government fee.

Forty-six members of the Student Body outvoted the other 30 that were in attendance, upholding the Student Senate's recommendation that an additional $1.50 be tacked on the Student Government fee to provide financial backing for a pops concert.

Previously, at another regular Student Body meeting, a similar handful of students elected to assess all students with a 50-cent working fee for Wartburg Student Government.

The two-dollar total is still subject to approval by the Board of Regents when it meets here this spring.

Many students not in attendance have denounced the action taken.

STUDENT BODY VP, Roger Lageschulte, commented that attendance at Student Body meetings is perennially lax.

"All of the students knew that the Student Body meeting was being held, and most of them were aware of the issue on the agenda," he said.

Since this is the first time that student government has voted to draw money from the students, it loomed as an important issue. Most major issues are settled by ballot in convo, but procedure followed by the solons in this matter figures to make it a test of ultimate student indifference to government.

A PERCENTAGE OF the 76 who attended the meeting did raise strong objection, however, (See letter page 2) questioning the legality of the extra $1.50 for pops tickets. They claim that some students will have to spend money for something they aren't interested in.

Senior Senator Joel Diemer explained, "The basic idea is to get financial backing so that we can sign a binding contract with a performer."

The concert failed this year, when funds weren't available.

NORM LITZNER, Student Body president, was ruffled by the objections.

"I think much of the opposition arises, not from the fact that it will cost each student an extra $1.50, but whether or not students are willing to place in the hands of the Senate the responsibility of using this money for the best interest of all."

Objection at the meeting, however, was by word and not by numbers. The remaining nine hundred students may wake up to realize that a handful of senators can wield a mighty big stick when unopposed in sufficient strength.

Forum Set March 21

An open forum concerning the problems of social groups on the Wartburg campus will be held Monday evening, March 21, at 7:15 in the cafeteria.

Those interested in the problem are invited to attend, according to Student Body President Norm Litzner.

Missions Will Be Featured In March Emphasis Week

Mission Emphasis Week on Wartburg campus is slated for March 20-25.

During the week a number of missionaries will be on campus, according to Bill Schroeder, Mission Fellowship president.

SUNDAY, MARCH 20, The Rev. Luthard Eid, professor at the Lutheran Seminary in Hong Kong, will open the week with a program sponsored by the Lutheran Student Association.

Tuesday, The Rev. Robert Martenson, missionary in the Sudan Mission, Cameroun, West Africa, will speak at convocation.

Dr. Henry Mayer, missionary to India, Wednesday will show a film of Indian missions and deliver a talk on "Attitudes of government, natives and Hinduism toward mission work."

THURSDAY'S CONVO will feature Dr. John Kuder, president of the Lutheran Mission of New Guinea.

To round out the week, The Rev. Gehard Vorland, missionary to Japan, will speak in the evening.

The entire week is being sponsored by Mission Fellowship.

"THIS IS A NEW program of Mission Fellowship to cultivate interest in mission work. If the program carries through with enough interest, we hope to make it an annual event," said Schroeder.

"If there are any organizations or professors who would like to have one of these missionaries speak to them or to their class," Schroeder went on, "I hope they will get in contact with me to make possible arrangements."

The missionaries will also be

Drs. Turner, Schmidt Fill Week's Convo Bill

Dr. Clarence L. Turner will be the speaker at Tuesday's convocation. Dr. Turner, who has been on the faculty at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., is presently a visiting professor in Wartburg's Biology Department. His talk will concern the National Science Foundation in its role of supporting education.

Convocation Thursday will feature Dr. Karl Schmidt of the Christianity Department in a worship service. "Vocations" will be the topic of Dr. Schmidt's sermon.

NCA Man Here Mon.

Dr. Daniel J. Steible, a North Central Association study coordinator, will be on campus Monday. During that time he will confer with a representative group of Wartburg students.

The Association study coordinators aim to help institutions improve their educational programs. Chairman of the local Study Committee is Miss Erna Moehl, English Department.

'Faustus' Bows Out Tonight

DELORES GARRETT, applying make-up, transfers Don Ehlers into Mephistopheles for last night's production of "Dr. Faustus." The transformation will be made for the last time tonight when the play is given beginning at 8 in the Little Theater.

By Grace Jahn

Faustus, the man who sold his soul to the devil, came alive on the stage of the Little Theater Thursday night.

A larger than usual opening night crowd enthusiastically received Wartburg Players' production of "The Tragical History of Dr. Faustus" by Christopher Marlowe.

Bruce Bergquist, junior from Oklahoma City, Okla., in the lead role as Dr. Faustus, carried the burden of the action of the play. Bergquist is able to portray such emotional reality in the part that one almost believes he has been playing it all his life.

Bergquist holds the audience in his grasp in the two highlighting scenes of the play. The first is his conjuring of Mephistopheles, and the second is the final scene, in which, during his last moments, Faustus tries to repent and cannot.

ABLY COMPLEMENTING Bergquist is Don Ehlers, sophomore from Worthington, Minn., Wartburg's most-seasoned actor, in his role as Mephistopheles, the devil-servant to Faustus.

Perhaps the most versatile actor in the play is Bob Boettcher, junior from Appleton, Wis. Many of the parts in the play are very small, so that a number of them are combined and assigned to one actor. Boettcher changes his character portrayal from Wrath to a Friar to the Duke of Van-holt to the Old Man; the latter he does most convincingly.

BOB ROSENBERG, also a junior from Appleton, Wis., in his brief appearance as Lucifer, chief of the devils, handles his part admirably.

Not unimportant in the presentation is the lighting, which is especially effective, the sound effects and the costuming. All three deserve praise-worthy attention.

Minor characters who handle and play their parts well are sophomore John Loeschen as the Chorus, Sloth and the Second Scholar; sophomore Sandra Reiners as the Good Angel; freshman LaVonne Kimpling as the Evil Angel; senior Arlow Bice as Pride, a Friar, the Emperor and the First Scholar.

FRESHMAN LOUISE LOOTS as Covetousness; freshman Judith Seffer as Envy; junior Craig Sathoff as Gluttony and the Cardinal; senior Jane Marten as Lechery; senior Dick Ferries as Wagner and the Knight; junior Bob Moeller as the Pope and Alexander.

Freshman Jean Englehardt as the Paramour, senior Donna Mueller as the Duchess of Vanholt and freshman Kay Knopf as Helen.

Final production of the drama is tonight at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater. If you haven't seen "Faustus," see it; if you've seen it, see it again!

(Editor's note: Director Vernon Lesterud of the Wartburg Speech Department was admitted to the hospital Thursday night with a kidney infection. The show went on last night and will go on tonight under the direction of Delores Garrett, company manager, and Bob Boettcher, stage manager.)

Final Exams Flunk Out

The calendar says that spring is on the way. Ah, spring, when the warm sun sheds the earth of its bleak, snowy blanket, when the birds return from the South to start a year anew, when the air is light and sweet, when trees blossom forth, radiantly and fragrant, and when college students are asked to write in two hours all that they have learned during the preceding four and one-half months.

The air is clear and minds are sharp. Facts, figures and fantasy from the semester are crammed into the storage space, then released in the two hours — surrendered completely and for the most part forgotten.

At least one institution of higher learning in the United States has decided to correct this situation. (A poll showed that almost unanimously, their students reported that they crammed for finals.)

Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich., has completely revised its calendar this year, eliminating two-hour finals and any designated testing period.

Professors reportedly give a minimum of five examinations during the semester, and stress outside research and reports while figuring grades.

Apparently these people are foresighted enough to break tradition and see more value in promoting learning for a lifetime, rather than memorizing for a two-hour period.

Anyone have any talcum powder handy? There will probably be some rash things coming out of last Tuesday's Student Body meeting.

There are new students on campus who are wondering if some faculty and administration people have their offices in the college Den.

According to latest reports, the devil has infiltrated the Wartburg ranks.

The pops concert is now officially a part of student government. Louie Armstrong for Student Body president!

St. Patrick's Day is next week. What does Wartburg have that's green besides the fast-ripening freshman class?

A lazy person is a Wartburger who would rather go without chicken than dress up Wednesday nights.

"Here I am, send him," is the biblical way of saying, "Let George do it."

Who said Wartburg doesn't have any Greek organizations? In order to be admitted to third floor Grossmann, one must have a deck of pinochle cards and know how to play the game.

If you have noticed about a hundred new faces on campus, they're probably transfer students from Luther.

Little Sparrow in the gym,
When you learn to sing a hymn;
Then your chirpings sounding loud
Will be welcomed by the crowd!

Luther College's placing 100 students on disciplinary probation for dancing further indicates one of the weaknesses of the liberal arts colleges. They tend to sweep their clutterings under the carpet, then suddenly have to clean out before the rug wears out.

One frosh coed questions the Student Body project to light the tennis courts. "By the time it gets dark enough to use electricity," she says, "girls will have to be in the dorm."

To Get Education, Student Burdened With Extra Fees

Dear Editor:
According to the college catalog "the obvious primary purpose of the college is to provide educational opportunities and facilities. . . ." But what must a person go through to get the "primary purpose"? He must, of course, pay for those "educational opportunities and facilities," meaning the tuition. This is, however, only the beginning of the costs.

HE IS ALSO forced to pay for his room whether he wants to live on campus or not; he must buy a meal ticket whether he wants to eat in the cafeteria or at Roy's; he must pay for his Trumpet, Fortress and Castle whether he wants one or will even read it; he must pay for Artist Series, basketball and football tickets even if he can't or won't attend; he must pay for the college nurse and the clinic whether or not he is ever sick.

Mid Knight March

By Bob Solete

Wartburg College, Waverly, Iowa
10 a.m.
I am a student.
I was working on an assignment for the Trumpet, when I heard that there was a group that caused a big furor at Galesburg last week.
My job? Expose them!
My first lead came when I dropped into the College Den and overheard a patron say that they were an active and spirited group. I was making progress. There aren't many like that on campus.
11:30 a.m. I drew up my plans. I ordered another coffee and waited. Pretty soon I saw one. He looked like a stoolie. I grabbed him. He said he wasn't one of the brass. I kept him, anyway. I asked him if he wasn't an important part of the organization.
"Each person is important," he answered. I wanted the whole group. "Take me to your leader," I said.
12:12 p.m. We arrived at his room. He was gone. Out to lunch. I sat down and waited. I saw by some scattered papers in the room that his name was Kutschat.
At 1:15 he appeared. I started questioning him.
"How long have you been in operation?" I asked.
"About two years," he said.
"Who pays you?"
"No one," he answered.
"How long have you been creating attention like you did at Galesburg last week?" I asked.
He broke down and confessed the whole story. He said his gang had been formed to help spur the Wartburg Knights and to fire-up the students. He said they operated every home game and any other important contest. He said his group was voluntary. He said they had been stirring Wartburgers like this all year.
I presented Kutschat a commendation from the Trumpet and asked him to relay it to the Wartburg Pep Band.
1:32 p.m. I left.
My job was done.

Last Tuesday by a 46-30 vote at a Student Body meeting he will also be forced to buy a ticket to the pops concert even if he can't or doesn't want to attend.

NEXT YEAR the Student Body project will probably be added to the ever growing list of things to pay for. The intramural sports program at some schools is also included in the "fees." It probably will not be long before each student will pay 200 dollars at the beginning of the year and this will entitle him to membership in every organization on campus, the linen service and a year's supply of stamps!!

Why can't the people who want these extras pay for them themselves and not force everyone else to pay? This year you paid 53 dollars for your "activity fee." Did you get your money's worth?

Vollmerite Spirit Arises In Wrath

Dear Editor:
In this weekly there appears to be a writer who reveals infantile self-expression by mud-slinging. Why is it that self-degeneration in some is often escaped from by using the terms in application to others?

'Tis true that the name of Vollmer no longer strikes terror in the hearts of the faculty, but fear not, lest you think the spirit has died, for it merely rests, and the House of Vollmer is ready to rise again.

Yes, it shall rise again as it did once before. The illustrious House of Vollmer, famed of old and revered by many, can and will not tolerate slams to its prestige now or in the future.

Such greats of Vollmer's past, as were referred to, are indeed deserving of credit along with many others not mentioned. This detracts little, in the eyes of Vollmerites, from the status of its present representatives. You may indeed look to Vollmer (not the feminine version) for many more originals of note in the future as have been forthcoming in the past.

We, however, wish to thank the accused of this proclamation for arousing our resting spirit. This is an official statement of the House of Vollmer and its affiliated honorary societies.

Cagers End Slate With 18-7 Record

By Chuck Jepsen

The wraps have now been put on another successful basketball season. Although losing three of their past four games, the Knights finished with a good 18-7 record. Six of the Axmen's seven losses were by a total of 18 points.

Wartburg dropped the consolation game of the NCAA tournament Saturday night to South Dakota State, 93-77. Cornell defeated the Knights Friday 72-67. Coach Ax Bundgaard used all 11 squad members against SDS, and all scored at least three points.

NORM REMMERS with 13, Don Hein with 12 and Kermit Urbain with 11 led the Knights in scoring. John Tuecke scored only 6 points in the game and dropped below the 20 point-per-game average for the season. Tuecke finished with 494 points for an average of 19.8 points.

After breaking even in two non-conference games, Wartburg began conference action by defeating Iowa Wesleyan, Simpson and Central. In the Tall Corn Tourney, the Knights dropped a one-point decision to Northern Illinois, but came back to capture third place by defeating Grinnell 64-62 in an experimental game with few free throws.

AFTER DEFEATING Augsburg 81-71, the Knights really poured on the steam at Dubuque as they ran up 107 points in defeating the Spartans 107-76.

Buena Vista was the next victim of the Knights, 70-59. Loras fell before the Axmen for the first time in five years as they came out on the short end of an 85-58 score.

A second defeat of Simpson set the stage for the big battle with Upper Iowa, a team which at that time had lost but one game. Missed free throws told the tale for the Knights in that game as they lost 69-68 after having led by five points with two minutes to go.

WITH THE CORPS reduced by transfers, injuries and ineligibilities, Wartburg had a hot second half to defeat traditional rival Luther 91 to 81.

Wartburg's final overnight road trip proved to be a rough one. After edging Parsons 84-80 on a Friday night, the Knights were upset Saturday by a vastly improved Iowa Wesleyan team, 67-62.

Returning home, the Knights squeaked by Central and John Carle, 65-59. This game was followed by second defeats of Buena Vista and Dubuque. In the Dubuque game Tuecke established a career rebounding mark.

ONE OF THE high lights of the season was the overtime defeat of ISTC. Hein, sophomore from Waverly, played an outstanding game and led all scorers with 30 points. This marked the third straight defeat of the larger state school at the hands of the Knights.

The Wartburg Trumpet
Saturday, March 12, 1960

Parsons then fell before Wartburg by the score of 75-70.

At Decorah, the Norse rose to the occasion and defeated the Knights by the narrowest of margins, 74-73. Hein established the single-game high for the year as he pumped in 39 points. Tuecke established a new career scoring mark.

WARTBURG AVENGED its earlier defeat by rolling over UIU 94-84 at Fayette as Tuecke led the Knights with 28 points.

Knights paced the Iowa Conference with a mark of 13-3. This led to their fourth consecutive invitation to the NCAA small college tournament. The Knights finished fourth, falling before Cornell and South Dakota State.

High lights of the season include defeats of TC, Upper Iowa and Luther, Tuecke's scoring and rebounding marks and Hein's scoring record as a sophomore.

Move Those Other Two Trophies Over

DR. ELMER HERTEL presents championship wrestling trophy to Roger Hildebrandt, Wartburg, and Roger Mangan, Upper Iowa. The two schools tied in the Iowa Conference Wrestling Meet held here last Saturday.

Both teams managed a total of 58 points as John Sternberg won the 123-pound division, Jim Mueller the 137 class, and Hildebrandt the 157 division for the Knights. Mangan won the 147-pound division for Upper Iowa with Neil Evans winning the 177 class and Robert Dirks the heavyweight division for the Peacocks.

Juniors John Sternberg and Roger Hildebrandt turned in superior performances, toppling two men from the previously undefeated ranks.

Sternberg decisioned Dubuque's Ron Moon 3-0 in the semi-final round and Hildebrandt beat Jim Fox of Dubuque 7-5 in the finals.

Freshman Jim Mueller, who is already being compared with former Wartburg great Arnie Brandt, showed his dislike for the tactics of John Youngblut of Upper Iowa by grinding out a 6-0 decision for the 137 pound crown.

Tuecke And Hein All-Loop Choices

According to the Iowa Conference officials, Wartburg placed two men on the All-Conference teams which were chosen Thursday by the coaches.

John Tuecke, Knights' leading scorer, was selected to the first team at the center spot, and Don Hein, who broke all sophomore scoring records, was named to the second team as a forward.

Other first team selections were John Carle of Central and Bob Tidgren of Simpson as forwards with Arman Pipho of Luther and John Tierney of Upper Iowa as guards.

Second team choices along with Hein were John Ward of Iowa Wesleyan at forward, Jim Abrends of Buena Vista at center and Mike Scott of Upper Iowa and Bruce Meriweather of Dubuque at the guard spots.

Honorable mentions included Hiedenrich of Dubuque, Hutchison of Upper Iowa, Overland of Parsons, Denger of Iowa Wesleyan, Yapp of Dubuque and Walters of Upper Iowa.

HAATS' STUFF

By LeVonne

Ten members of the Wartburg Women's Athletic Association, accompanied by Miss Adeline Langrock and Mrs. Janet Striepe, journeyed to the State University of Iowa last Saturday to participate in a statewide college Play Day. The girls took part in sports ranging from basketball to swimming.

Wartburg WAA is planning a Play Day here in the near future.

Students who grieve about Iowa winter and all the snow we have been having will be given an opportunity to take a trip to the sunny Caribbean (via an illustrated talk) Monday night. The Student Education Association will be meeting at 7 in the Fine Arts Choral Room.

The speaker will be Robert Benck from the Allen Travel Agency, Waverly, who will tell about his trip to the Caribbean and parts of the United States.

Anyone for a little sunshine?

Are you in need of a Sunday afternoon coffee break? An ideal place to go is North Centennial Lounge, where Pi Sigma will be sponsoring a coffee hour. There is 1 to 2:30 p.m. Girls do not need to be a member of Pi Sigma to attend. The fellows are also welcome.

Also Pi Sigma will have its regular business meeting next Wednesday night in the Faculty Lounge. All members are asked to be present to elect new officers and plan a concession stand for the college carnival. The meeting will include a discussion concerning the possibility of sponsoring an off-campus dance. The time of the meeting is 7:30 p.m.

Friday afternoon seems to be a busy day. Chi Rho is meeting at 1:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building. Professor Franklin Sherman from the School of Religion, State University of Iowa, will present the topic "The Catholicity of Lutheranism." A discussion will be held after the speech. The public is invited.

Young Democrats will hold a meeting next Tuesday, at 7 p.m. in Student Senate Room. All those interested are invited to come and help plan a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, they say. A committee to write a constitution for the group will be selected. The activities for the rest of the year planned.

WHAT? NO ANGELS?

Old Main Houses White Rats, Hamster

By Roger Schneider

Oh, rats!

The next time you utter this statement in disgust, glance around you, if you are in the vicinity of Old Main, to see that you aren't correct in your statement. The third floor of the building has been invaded by two white rats and a hamster.

Laboratory equipment for the applied psychology class at Wartburg includes these rodents. However, for the present they are merely used for demonstration purposes.

"We are not testing with the rats for purposes of publication," said Dr. Wilmut Fruhling, instructor of the applied psychology class, when questioned about the purpose of the rats. RATS ARE USED to illustrate reactions under such things as shock. They are studied under conditions of fear, hunger, thirst, etc. This tends to demonstrate the basic drive of living things.

When Fruhling feeds and cares for the rats, he places them out on tables and allows them to enjoy freedom.

"They have gotten out at times before I had stable cages," said Fruhling. "But all you have to do is rate paper or make some slight noise and they come emerge from their hiding places."

THE LONE HAMSTER is a sort of secondary character around the lab.

They are a cleaner animal, but they are not too active," remarked Fruhling. Since the animals are used for research purposes, rats prove to be a great deal more curious and active.

"We want to offer a laboratory course in applied psychology next year," stated Fruhling, "and this is just one of the ways of developing our equipment."

WHITE RAT on a precipice is closely observed by Ted Schott and Jochem Strelnel. The rodents have invaded Old Main via the applied psychology class.

The department hopes to secure more rats soon.

The expression "oh, rats!" may develop a different connotation if the members of the applied psychology class are absent-minded and leave cage doors open.

Reading Expert Here

Dr. Helen Kennedy, research worker for the Harvard-Carnegie reading study will be on campus Wednesday and Thursday to interview Miss Stella Austerod, of the Education Department, and Fred Thompson, admissions director, concerning the reading program and the preparation of elementary school teachers here.

Wartburg College has been chosen as an interview subject for the project, which is concerned with the preparation of prospective elementary teachers.

Project Drive Begins Monday

Solicitations for a three-fold Student Body Project consisting of recreational equipment for the Little Theater, a color TV set for the Union and lights for the tennis court will begin on Monday. Dave Jensen, project chairman, and John Tuecke, general chairman of the Student Body Project Committee, made the announcement yesterday.

Since these three proposed projects were almost equally popular with the Student Body according to the ballots taken, the committee decided to fi-

Forum Slates Debate

Wartburg will tackle Luther in debate at the Wednesday World Affairs Forum meeting, according to Jerry Ford, Forum proxy.

Representing Wartburg at the meeting, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Wartburg Hall lounge, will be junior Bill Goetz and sophomore Dallas Johnson.

Wartburgs Meet

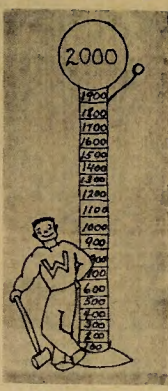

Pres. C. H. Becker, Dean J. O. Chelver and the ordained men of the Wartburg faculty met here yesterday afternoon and evening with the faculty of Wartburg Seminary.

This was their annual meeting to study common problems and to discuss possible changes in requirements for Arts Seminary students.

nance them as a combined project.

"We hope to reach our goal of $2,000 within the week," says Tuecke. However, in addition to amount collected in personal solicitations from the students, there is a balance from Student Body projects of previous years besides the proceeds from the Spring Carnival which may also be used for financial backing, according to Jensen.

Members of the committee in charge of solicitations are: Diane Daggett, Wartburg Hall; Carolyn Shardt, Vollmer Hall; Carolyn Schrage, North Centennial; Dave Siefkens, North Hall; Don Riggenburg, Gross Hall; Jack Fischer, Clinton Hall; Myron Graman, Trailer Court; Alpha, Ketha, and Cotta Houses; Bruce Busch, Off Campus; and Barrill Bauer, Waverly. Each will choose a number of people from his respective area who will make the actual contacts and turn in the reports to the committee.

What happened to the man "most likely to succeed?"

Back in 1923, Ben was the guy with the winning smile, personality and good genes. Couldn't miss. So, they voted him "Most likely to succeed."

One day, Ben's roommate said, "What are you going to do when you graduate? I haven't got a thing lined up."

"Well, nothing's final, John," said Ben. "But I am thinking about Lutheran Brotherhood."

"Life insurance? I haven't given that much thought."

"Sounds like a good deal, John. This is the life insurance society for Lutherans—like you and me. And it's really growing fast."

Ben's right! Lutheran Brotherhood has over $1 billion of life insurance in force in 40 states and five Canadian provinces. There are good openings right now for college men. And, a full training program... real opportunities for qualified young men who want a lifetime career in life insurance.

What happened to Ben, the "man most likely to succeed?" He joined Lutheran Brotherhood and is now a General Agent. And John, his roommate? Ben's right hand man in the business of providing security for fellow Lutherans.

You can't beat success. And the opportunities in 1960 are even greater with Lutheran Brotherhood. Send us a card for the full story.
